Review & Outlook

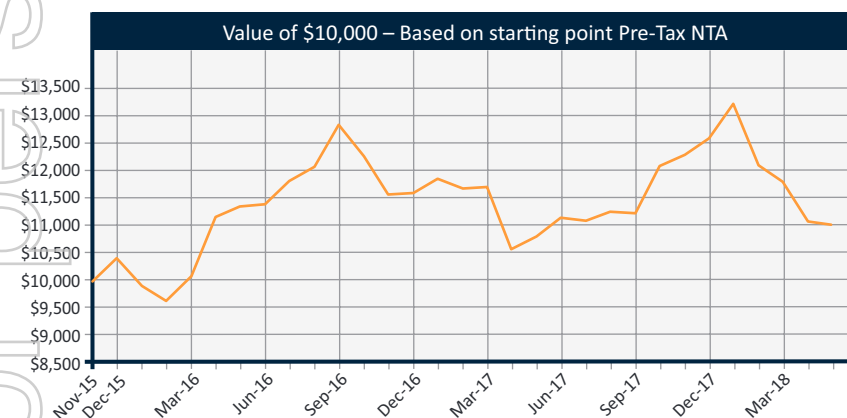

The NTA (Pre-Tax) return for May 2018 was -0.49%.

Positive contributors for the month included Experience Co (“Experience”), Gascoyne Resources (“Gascoyne”) and Australis Oil & Gas (“Australis”). Experience rose 11.1%, partially recovering from the weather-related downgrade in April. Gascoyne rose 10.6% after achieving first gold pour ahead of schedule at its Delgaranga gold project and released positive results from the initial drilling program at the Greencock prospect. Australis rose 17.6% continuing its rerating following a capital raise of $39m in March to fund the commencement of drilling in its Tuscaloosa Marine Shale acreage.

Key under-performers were Galena Mining (“Galena”), Explaurum (“Explaurum”) and MSL Solutions (“MSL”). Galena announced outstanding metallurgical results at their Abra project but traded down from 17cps to 14cps at month end. This was most likely the result of trading activity following the capital raising in April. Gold junior Explaurum is a relatively small position, however it declined by 23% following a somewhat disappointing study result. There was no news to account for the 11% decline in MSL and the business seems to be on track with the stock on a compelling valuation.

The index hedge position that was implemented in February 2018 at approximately 40% of portfolio value continues given the relative high valuation of markets. As with previous occasions, the hedge position is adjusted as the index valuation changes.
